COMMUNICATION

The Honorable

The Commissioner for Patents

Sir:

This is responsive to the phone communication of March 11, 2003 of Examiner J. Seidleck in response to applicants' attorney's phone call of March 10, 2003 regarding applicants' Amendment Under 37 C.F.R. 1.116 transmitted January 23, 2003. Applicants wish to thank Examiner Seidleck for the courteous and helpful telephone communication of March 11, 2003.

Background information: Applicants' attorney, the undersigned, and Examiner Rajguru had a telephone interview on January 22, 2003 wherein the rejection of the claimed invention was discussed. In particular, applicants' attorney discussed that applicants' claimed composites comprise lignocellulosic (woody, fibrous) plant material and plastic, whereas the prior art reference, Kay et al., teaches use of extracted guayule resin, a material which is totally different from lignocellulosic plant material. During extraction, the resin is separated from the lignocellulosic plant material, and extracted guayule is a liquid material. This is discussed in detail in applicants' Amendment filed January 23, 2003. The unexpected results of applicants' invention (as set forth in applicants' examples in the specification) were also discussed. Additionally, applicants agreed to amend the claims to replace the abbreviation "spp." with the term "species." The Examiner gave a strong indication that the claims would be allowable upon applicants filing an Amendment responding and highlighting these points. It was requested that applicants' attorney fax this Amendment to (703) 872-9311. Applicants transmitted an Amendment complying with the Examiner's request on January 23, 2003 (copy enclosed).

Docket No. 0217.97R
Serial No. 09/828,634

Additional information: During the phone interview of January 22, 2003, Examiner Rajguru also noted that there was a typo in the Final Rejection; the word "not" in the last line of paragraph 3 of the Final Rejection should have been "now" and the sentence should actually read "Rejection of claim 16, however, is now withdrawn."

The undersigned attorney earnestly requests a telephone conference.

Respectfully submitted,

Margaret A. Connor
